1. JUSTIFICATION AND STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Modification 1. Replace two COE courses with equivalent HED courses more specifically tailored to the SAHE practitioner preparation program.

In 2017, the SAHE MS program was transitioned out of Counselor Education, a CACREP accredited and licensure-focused concentration, to Educational Leadership, a non-accredited concentration with no connection to a counseling licensure pathway. As such, we propose replacing COE 8023 Counseling Theory and COE 8013 Counseling Skills with HED 8013 College Student Wellness and Student Affairs Practice and HED 8023 Helping and Intervention Skills in SAHE to:

a) better align SAHE curriculum with its specific focus on helping skills related to college students, college environments, and college student affairs;
b) eliminate the appearance of training non-licensure students for licensure-focused counseling activities; and
c) enhance the focus of practitioner training for students seeking jobs in the SAHE field upon graduation;

These course replacements do not alter the overall goal or structure of the SAHE degree program.

Modification 2. Eliminate the required elective from the Program of Study.

In a recent review of the SAHE curriculum, it was determined that the elective inherited from the previous curriculum in Counselor Education no longer serves a purpose that justifies its inclusion as a required course in the Program of Study. Professional standards do not require the elective and it is not considered a key component of either core knowledge or skills development as evaluated by the comprehensive exam. As such, eliminating the required elective in the Program of Study will:

a) eliminate the financial and time burdens placed on students for a class that does not have strong justification for being included as a program requirement;
b) free up a course requirement that will allow full-time students opportunities to gain valuable hands-on summer experiences at alternative institutions;
c) shorten the time to degree completion, especially for part-time students who are enrolled in the program while working full-time
d) reallocate faculty resources to fulfill other core class and doctoral program curricular needs.

The elimination of this requirement lowers our overall required credit hours from 42 to 39, which also enhances our competitiveness with similar programs in SAHE.

Modification 3. Add clause allowing PT students to substitute an elective for 3 credit hours of the credit hour practicum requirement.

Our Program of Study was originally predicated on the assumption of full-time students who work only 20 hours a week in Graduate Assistantships related to SAHE. Since shifting from COE to EDLD, we have significantly increased our enrollment by part-time students who work full-time at MSU while enrolled in the program. This is due, in large part, to relinquishing the restrictiveness of the CACREP accreditation requirements that often posed barriers for full-time workers (e.g., requirements to take four classes per semester to stay in sequence, a 600 hour internship in the final semester of the program).

While we maintain a 300 field hour requirement (split over two three-credit hour courses) supported by our field's CAS Standards guidelines for master's program curricula, students who are full-time workers routinely encounter difficulties with requesting time off from work to complete two semesters' worth of fieldwork hours. The faculty recognize that the intent of field-work hours is to give students substantive experience directly in an SAHE office setting to enhance their resumes, professional networks, and career mobility. In reexamining our field work policy, the program faculty deemed that full-time workers already substantively gain the experience required by practicum partially through their existing campus job experiences, and therefore should, with advisors approval, have an option for substituting an elective to satisfy at least part of the practicum requirement. This policy will:

a. eliminate unnecessary barriers for part-time students wishing to enroll in our program;
b. better support the needs of part-time students who hold full-time jobs while enrolled in the program;
c. decrease time conflicts that place students in difficult negotiating positions between MSU worksites and the master's program.

This policy change does not alter the overall goal or structure of the SAHE degree program.

Modification 4. Change the order of courses listed in the catalogue program of study overview.

The order in which the classes are listed on the program change form has been changed from how courses are currently listed in the graduate catalogue. This alteration will:
a. clarify for both prospective and current students the program sequence, distinguishing first-year (foundations and student facing curriculum) and second-year (leadership and administrative facing curriculum) course options; and
b. strengthen advisors' capacity to guide students in course selection.

This policy does not alter the overall goal or structure of the SAHE degree program.
