Summary of Proposed Changes:

Change 1: We have changed the requirements for the 18 hours of upper level electives our majors are required to take. Currently, students are required to take 6 hours from each of our three substantive areas. The change we propose would require students to take only 3 hours from each of these areas – the remaining 9 upper level hours can come from any combination of remaining upper level courses. We are initiating this change for several reasons. First, we believe this change will still require our students to take a broad range of criminology courses, while also giving them the flexibility to take courses that will interest them and/or help them later in their careers. Second, this also resolves the problem of where and how the Criminology Internship (CRM 3316) will count for students. How this course applies to their degree program has been confusing to students and the credits often have to be split over multiple substantive areas (causing more confusion). The change we are proposing will make the application of CRM 3316 much simpler – the 6 hours will apply to their upper level electives. Finally, this will also make the application of Special Topics and new course additions (i.e. CRM 4153) much simpler for students. Currently, students are hesitant to take these courses because they do not think it will count toward their criminology upper level requirements.

Criminology (CRM) Major Advisor: David May Office: 295 Bowen Hall The following degree program is offered: Bachelor of Arts. Criminology, as a field, explores the nature and causes of crime. Criminology also examines the impact crime has on society and how society responds to the social problem of crime. The Bachelor's degree in Criminology will emphasize the study of types, patterns and trends in criminal behavior; the social etiology of crime; and the social response to crime and its effect on society. The program will also train students to analyze crime data, test explanations of crime and victimization, and critically evaluate crime theory and policy. The Criminology program is appropriate for students wishing to purse career paths in all justice related fields including: law enforcement; probation and parole; community based prevention and control programs; court based programs; and corrections. Because our program provides for a broad knowledge of the nature and trends of crime and an understanding of crime control policy along with methodological and critical thinking skills, our students will be prepared to assume positions of leadership across a range of career paths in crime and justice related professions, as well as be prepared for post-graduate studies in Sociology, Criminology, and Law and Legal Studies. JUSTIFICATION OF THE CHANGE OF DEGREE:

Change 1: We have changed the requirements for the 18 hours of upper level electives our majors are required to take. Currently, students are required to take 6 hours from each of our three substantive areas. The change we propose would require students to take only 3 hours from each of these areas – the remaining 9 upper level hours can come from any combination of remaining upper level courses. We are initiating this change for several reasons. First, we believe this change will still require our students to take a broad range of criminology courses, while also giving them the flexibility to take courses that will interest them and/or help them later in their careers. Second, this also resolves the problem of where and how the Criminology Internship (CRM 3316) will count for students. How this course applies to their degree program has been confusing to students and the credits often have to be split over multiple substantive areas (causing more confusion). The change we are proposing will make the application of CRM 3316 much simpler – the 6 hours will apply to their upper level electives. Finally, this will also make the application of Special Topics and new course additions (i.e. CRM 4153) much simpler for students. Currently, students are hesitant to take these courses because they do not think it will count toward their criminology upper level requirements.
